

DOMAIN-SELECTIVE FUNCTIONING

STRUCTURAL REGULATION FRAMEWORK — PAPER 3, FIGURE 2

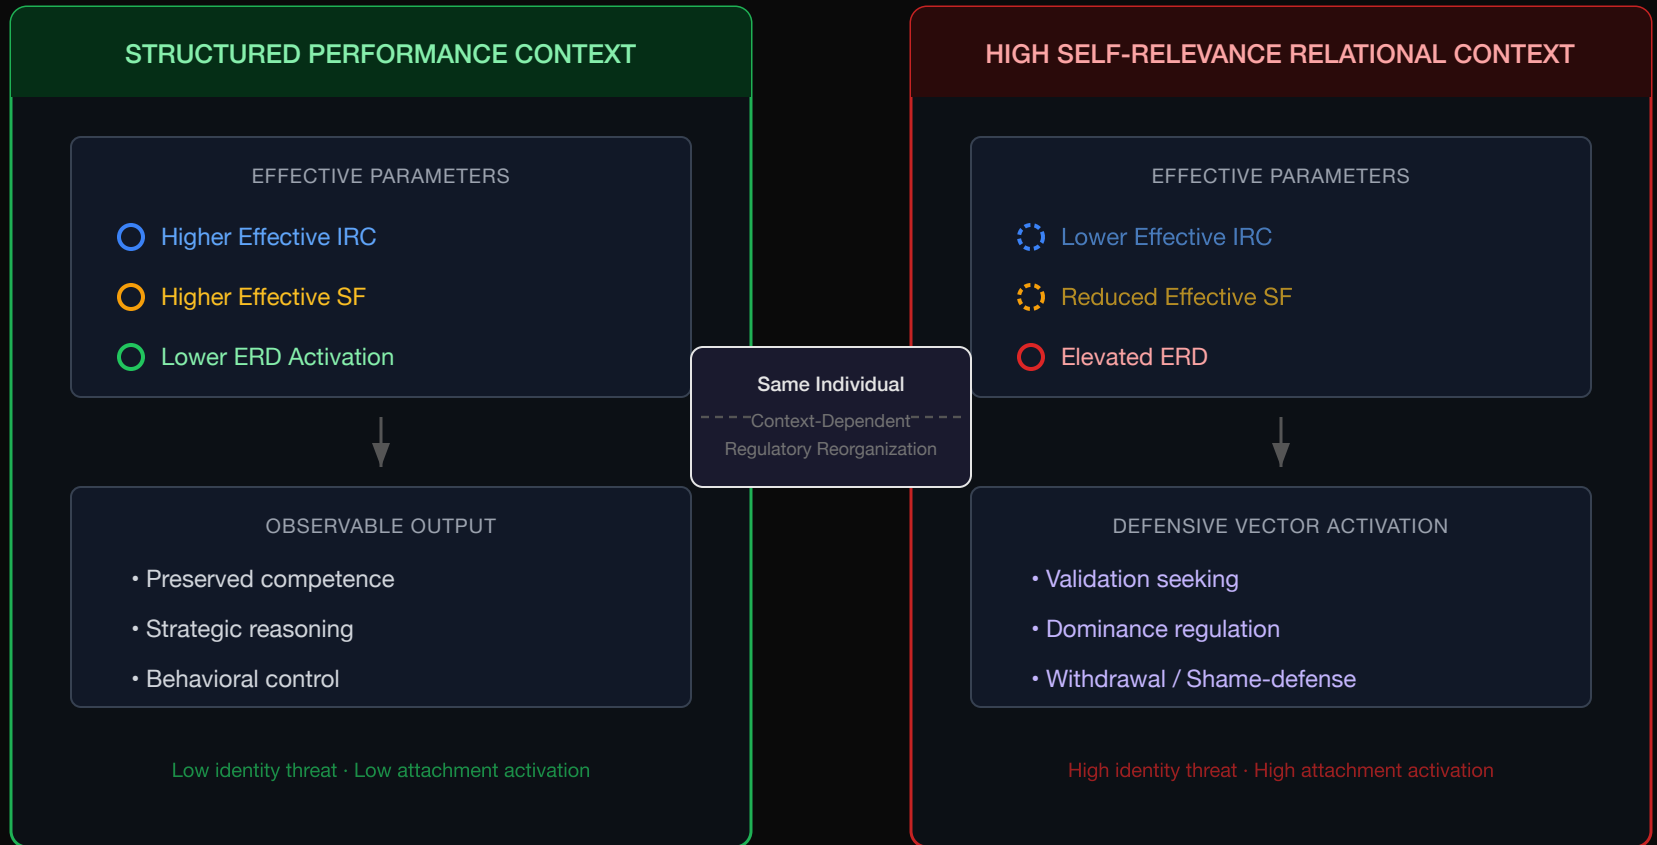

Figure 2. Proposed domain-selective variation in effective regulatory parameters. The same individual may demonstrate preserved functioning in structured low-threat contexts while exhibiting reduced effective holding capacity, lower processing flexibility, and intensified defensive vector activation under high self-relevance relational contexts.

Structural capacity is constant — effective regulatory expression reorganizes with activation domain